

Visions regarding the coming season and the kingdom of God

Received by Johan Boot during January 2008
Website: journeytools.net

The invisible army

I saw Jesus as King on a horse, leading an army into battle. This army was the sons of the Kingdom – those who did not love their lives even unto death. Issues regarding Christ's identity, Christ's purpose and Christ's mission have been worked out and rooted in their lives.

It was an invisible army. They were invisible to the world as well as the religious systems of the day. They crossed the battle line between the visible church and the world undetected and were sown as seeds in the enemy's territory. These seeds are the sons of the kingdom who give their lives to see the great harvest of the kingdom.

Their purpose is to reclaim territory lost to Satan through Adam's rebellion. As they surrender to Christ and give their lives for His kingdom, the Lord uses them to redeem that which was lost. They loosen the shackles of darkness, deception and sin. They are the executors for the New Covenant mandate.

The house on the other side

I saw a house that was built with living stones – a dwelling place of the Lord. It was positioned in the world, yet not of the world.

The house is a community of the sons of God fully surrendered and living by the life of Christ. This community has no other name but the Name of Jesus. They have no mission other than to see the King abide with and amongst them. In being a community placed in the world but not of the world and being a dwelling place of the King, the authority of Christ was being extended in and through their lives and interaction with the world. The house was dynamically (re-)constructed by the Spirit, constantly changing in shape and size in accordance with the desire of the Lord.

"The true extension of My rule takes place when successive generations remain a living dwelling place or house for My Spirit, without the next generation having to start alone on their journey into Me (surrender). If you teach and train your children the path of the kingdom through surrender and obedience, they will not need to travel alone through the desert and learn about My heart and ways on their own. They will remain in the kingdom (under My rule) and will therefore become yielded vessels of my kingdom much sooner in life. In this way My rule will truly be accelerated and extended for the restoration of all things unto its original purpose.”

The seed and the land

I saw a seed. The seed was the seed of the kingdom. It was the message and word of the kingdom. It was placed into the ground to germinate and develop. The ground is the hearts of men. I saw the hearts of men as different stages of the journey to maturity from Egypt to Canaan.

The seed of the kingdom needs the land of Canaan to truly germinate and produce the desired fruit for the King. When the gospel of the kingdom is preached, the produce of the message is the reflection of your heart. Thus it is not only sufficient to receive and preach the gospel of the kingdom, but you need hearts that are ready to receive the word, accept and obey it. Then the produce will be lasting and the King will come to eat of its fruit and abide in the land.

The produce of the gospel of the kingdom is the family/sons of God. Corporately they become a dwelling place for the Lord in the Spirit.

Warfare

‘What war have I not won?’ asks the Lord. ‘Or which battle have I not engaged in?’

‘It is the only battle that I have not engaged in.’

‘For there is a battle that I will not fight and there is a war that is not mine. This battle is not the one between Satan and Myself. That battle was already fought and won by My Son on the cross. Neither is it the battle to open the way – the final covenant is already established, signed and sealed. The outstanding battle is for the sons of the Kingdom to enter and inherit completeness under the Son, in His kingdom. The warfare of the kingdom is the warfare of authority – enforcing what is already won, reclaiming ground and returning to your original identity and position. This battle regarding authority is rooted in your battle for identity and won through your surrender and obedience to Me.

Satan and his demons ask: ‘Who are you? Are you a son of Adam? Or are you a son of God?’

The engagement ring

I saw Jesus and His bride – the body of Christ. He gave her an engagement ring saying, ‘My love, you are Mine. Get yourself ready, for the wedding feast is at hand. This ring of engagement is the promise of my imminent return. Prepare yourself, for I am coming.'

The ring of engagement is the sons of the kingdom. They are a gift from the King to the bride. They are His encouragement to her to prepare herself and look for His return. The sons are His messengers. They have been sent by Him as messengers of love and grace to His bride.

The army and the King's seal

'I am raising up an army of forerunners for the bride and the King. They will be an army of order and discipline. They will profess no other name but the Name of Jesus. They will be known for their selfless love. The root of their strength will be their surrender to the King and their abandonment of any identity apart from Christ. They will seek no recognition nor approval by men or the world, for they will carry the seal of the King.

The members of this army will be known by the seal of the King which they will carry in the Spirit. Satan and his demons will recognize those with the seal of the King, and will flee before them. They will know that these have been commissioned by the King.

Many would desire to join this army when they see it marching. Yet, the requirement is the seal of the King. This seal He will only give to those who have His heart of humility, love and grace. They have surrendered all their own ambitions and kingdoms, and have decided to simply keep in step with Him. These carry the limb of the Lord. He has tested them through hardship, offence and trial and tribulations. Those who belong to this army can only be added by the Lord. No one can join this army. It is the Lord Himself who calls, trains, tests and commissions the members of this army. These will carry His seal of authority. At this time the Lord is bringing them together in the Spirit.

The boat in the storm

There are storms coming that only those who are guided by the Spirit can successfully navigate. During the coming storms I will guide My people by the wind of My Spirit to empower and direct them. During much of these storms I will not give you a map. Neither will you know your destination. Many will be filled with hopelessness and despair during the times that are ahead. Yet, for those who are lead by My Spirit and who have committed their lives into My hands to follow and obey Me, I will give the wind of My Spirit. This will be the wind of My reign and kingdom. Look to the sky, and learn to read the winds of My Spirit. For when the wind picks up you must be ready to set sail and go wherever the wind will take you.

Many will look at your success in navigating the coming storms, and would want to do what you do. They will inquire about your plans, visions and strategies, and how you do things. Yet, the only thing you will be able to say is, 'Look for the wind. We go wherever it blows.' Many will be disappointed for they would be looking for a map instead of an invisible wind.

I have separated you from much that you have known before in order to teach you to hear and obey My Spirit alone. This was the necessary training required to navigate the coming storms. This is the way of the kingdom. It is the way of My reign in your life.

The coming harvest

Many of My people are despondent about the harvest of the gospel in the world. Many are saved. Many come to the knowledge of My Son. Yet, not many mature. Not many become followers of My Spirit. Yet, this is changing. Most of my people are weak and fall back because they have not received the full gospel which contains My power to sustain and mature them. In the season of My kingdom breaking forth over My church and upon the earth, you will preach the gospel of the kingdom. To those who believe and obey this gospel it will be the power to grow and mature them. But to those who reject it, it will become the stone that will crush them. My kingdom is coming. I am returning. Now is the time that I am raising up My people to stand in My kingdom. In this coming season the choice will be whether you will surrender to My reign and enter and receive My rule or kingdom, or whether you will reject my reign through self-centeredness and self worship. Many will desire the power of the kingdom, but will desire it for themselves. These will not be able to receive My Spirit and power, but will be swept away but the winds and currents of the turbulent times ahead.

The seed that produce a good harvest is the seed of the full gospel of the kingdom. Teach them to obey the gospel of My reign. Teach them to surrender their lives to Me and thus come under My authority, protection and power. This will be the only place of security and safety in the times that are coming. This message of surrender and obedience will enable and equip them to follow and flow with My Spirit through the storms. Unless they do, the storms will sweep them away.

Those who will stand after these times, they the world will look at and ask how they managed to avoid much of the damage of the times. Then the sons of the kingdom, the harvest of My truth will shine like the midday sun, and they will preach the gospel of the kingdom from the mountain tops, and My Name will be lifted up in this land and continent like it has never been seen.

His secret chambers

I have called you to come up to My mountain and meet Me at my place of residence. I have shown you things from My point of view, and I have removed many things from you. Many of your old pictures, paradigms and dreams are no more. For those who have sought me in the previous season, who have left all behind to follow My Spirit, I am now opening the door to My secret chambers. I will take you to myself and love you with tender mercies. I will heal your reproach and cause My love to cover you.

Now you will know My heart of love like never before. Yet, you will not leave my chambers as you would have done in the past. Now you will stay with Me. For I have moved you positionally. You are no longer the same. Neither are you any longer in the same place. You are now with Me.

From here I will show you great and marvelous things. Things that you have only dreamt about. Press into Me. Come into Me. You will know Me as you have never known Me before.